For the past twenty-three years Mrs. Seth Davis, of Skowhegan, Me., has been busy picking and marketing the berries that grow wild near her home. Now she is the owner of a fine farm which she has paid for with the money from the berries. Besides picking berries she often helps her husband in his work about the farm and sometimes in the winter season hailed wood into town and unloads it herself. She is one of the most frequent patrons of the public library and believes life in the open air is better than anything else that could be offered.

$300 STEER STAKE.

Editor Bourbon News:

If the Kentucky State Fair would advertise that it would give a three hundred dollar class for steers, two years and under, and if other fairs would offer good premiums in the steer class every year, what would that mean to this beautiful grazing land that is filled with scrubs? There would be something doing among the cattle breeders and feeders. You could see the broad-backed roans and reds grazing the field that God made so beautiful for the thoroughbred and the pure bred. It would be a vision to the farmer's son, and the young farmer who is thinking of leaving the farm for the city would no longer tire of farm life. Instead, there would be a charm in his grazing herd; he would see farming in a new light; the song of the birds would seem sweeter, and the grass would grow greener. The little brook with its rumbling song would accord with the whistle of the farmer's son.

Good stock goes with good farming. Good farming means good citizens, stepping higher in every branch of farm life. What is a steer worth? That depends upon his breeding and the kind of man that has charge of him. The steer feeds the rich and the poor; he protects our feet, turns the wheels of the nation, bleaches white our fine sugars strained through his charred bones. He gives us buttons, beautiful hair-pins to adorn the head, and his hair is used to beautify our walls, fine soaps, glue, fertilizers, etc., are obtained from the steer. He returns fertility to the soil, gives to his owner a good sum of money for his care and feed. He gives employment to many thousand people. The Armour Company employs over thirty-two thousand people in its plant and pays out $87,100,000 for cattle annually. The payroll of the company amounts to nearly $26,000,000 a year. Its packing plants cover two hundred and eight acres of land and 2,100 horses and 500 cars are made use of daily. In supplying food, clothing, furnishings for the home, articles that adorn, preparations that heal, products that make for health, comfort, efficiency and economy—all along the line—extremely few are complete without the use of one of several articles of animal origin. Thus does this industry contribute to commerce, science and art.

Oh! may the good days of the '80's return to our bluegrass land, when we could count the Shorthorn herds by the tens and twenties and sell them from one to four, six and ten thousand a head. It was then that the champion steers of Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and New Orleans, like Nunsuch and Schooler, were bred and developed in Kentucky, the grandest and most beautiful land in all the world. Nunsuch won medals and cups and one thousand dollars in cash, for his owner, the late Mr. W. H. Renick. Several times, the champion steer of Chicago has sold for $1.50 per pound.

Is he worthy a place in the show ring? He would be a drawing card for the great army of cattle feeders. He would be a model, a type for the young farmer to build upon.

The champion steer of Argentina in 1913, sold for over $1,700. The champion Shorthorn sold for over $13,000. The champion Shorthorn of England in 1913 sold for $30,000. May our grand old State again produce such champions as Victor, Waterloo, King Cumberland, Fannie Forester and Red Rose 8th.

"Joseph and His Brethren" at the Lexington Opera House

The third of the Century Theatre dramatic spectacles, "Joseph and His Brethren," will come to the Lexington Opera House April 13, 14 and 15. In some respects it is built on a larger scale than either of its predecessors, for it has twelve scenes where "The Garden of Allah" had only eight. There are more than sixty speaking parts. Its success has been phenomenal.

"Joseph and His Brethren" is a vitalized version of the story in the Book of Genesis, written for the stage by Louis N. Parker. Mr. Parker is known chiefly in America for his "Disraeli" and "Pomander Walk," but in England he is known as the author of other successes, including "Drake," the hit of the last London season. "Drake" was given a spectacular production at His Majesty's Theatre by Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, who has also produced "Joseph" there this season.

To present "Joseph and His Brethren" the Liebler Company has selected a cast of unusual ability. Brandon Tynan, who has been a star in his own plays and leading man for Nazimova, will play the role of Joseph. James O'Neill, if "Monte Christo" fame, will have the part of Jacob, the patriarch, and in the third act will play Pharaoh. Pauline Fredericks, pronounced by artist Harrison Fisher the most beautiful woman in America, and numerous other players of reputation will be seen in the cast, while the heads of the technical departments of the Liebler Company who worked out the so-called "effects" in the play will accompany the big production to the Lexington Opera House.

The company when traveling has almost the proportions of a circus, with its special train of fourteen cars. Among the latter are herds of camels, oxen, asses, horses and sheep.

The four acts of "Joseph and His Brethren" will be known as "The Coat of Many Colors," "The Temptation," "The Dreams" and "The Deliverer." The scenes will be respectively: "The Tents of Shechem," "The Wells of Dothan," "Jacob's Tent," "The Entrance to Jacob's House," "The Pyramids," and "In Joseph's House." (10-21)

Seth Cogswell has been inventing again. He says there is entirely too much uncertainty about eggs. His idea is this: As soon as an egg is laid it will be taken to a jewelry store. A small door will be neatly cut in the shell and fitted with tiny hinges and a lock so that a purchaser can take a peep and satisfy himself that all is well within. It will be a trifle expensive, but who cares for expense where pure food is concerned?

HUGE INVITATION

A Conference of Farmers and Business Men Early This Spring

A MEETING FOR THE SOUTH

A Great Opportunity For a Short-cut Method of Seeing What Is Best in Rural Co-operation in the United States—A Real Getting Together.

Almost everyone who has head the magazines and newspapers in the last or so has wished to travel to many points and learn first-hand what the leaders in co-operation are doing. Of course, this has been an impossibility and even if one could make it possible, there would be no time left for constructive work at home. To a certain extent the "County Life Conference" in Louisville, April 7, 8, 9, 10, will make this a possibility without extensive traveling.

Leaders in co-operative movements from many parts of the South and from innumerable Northern States, have been engaged to tell just what they have accomplished and how it was accomplished. They are to tell their "ups" as well as their "downs," in the cause of co-operation. They will also be on hand to show exactly how the work which has been a success at home can be transplanted to other neighborhoods. They will bring with them not only the story, but also all of the material that is used in their perfected organization to-day that it may run smoothly.

Enough enthusiasm is sure to be developed to make organizations among those present a certainty. This will be done by these men in the most detailed way possible. The leaders who come to the Conference should be able to take the good word home in such shape that it can be redeveloped and take root.

If you should wish to better your own condition, or the condition of your state, or the condition of the whole South, it would be well worth your time and money to come to Louisville at this time.

Even if you are not at all anxious to hear any one of the speakers or see any of the demonstrations, still it would be a delight to be in a crowd of people who are enthusiastic enough and devoted enough to come and rub elbows with other leaders. After all, there is nothing much better in life than the glow which comes to all of us when we come in contact with "live wires" from scattered places over the whole country.

If you are a leader or feel that you might be a leader or hope to be a leader, make your plans at once and get the dust off your grip sack that you may be ready to be with the splendid bunch that will talk things over so far the South may grow in prosperity, in farm life, in home life and in neighborhoods.

FARMERS' CLUBS

Prof. A. D. Wilson.

The press of the country for the past several years has been full of the wonderful work done by the Boys' and Girls' Corn and Tomato Clubs. Naturally, it would seem time for us to have something in the press concerning clubs for farmers and their wives.

Some work in successful farmers' clubs has been done in the State of Minnesota and Prof. A. D. Wilson, of the Extension Department of State University is the man who has developed it. His wide experience in this field has appealed so strongly to those in charge of the program for the Farmers' and Business Men's Conference, that arrangements were made for him to come to the meeting at Louisville, April 7-10, to develop the same enthusiasm that has attended the work in his home state. He is a speaker of ability, and it is hoped that he may encourage our farmers to the point of organizing some clubs in Kentucky and in the South for this year.

The Conference in Louisville, April 7-9-10, is of such importance that extremely low railroad rates have been made. You can make the trip from your home town to Louisville at this time for one fare plus 25 cents.

THE FORTY YEAR TEST

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief—it cures. For sale by all dealers. (March) (adv)

It must be discouraging to a man who has thought up a dashing, poetic name for a race horse to hear the bookmakers trying to pronounce it.

HAD CATARRH FIVE YEARS.

Mr. Johnson of St. Elmo, Illinois, was troubled five years with catarrh. The catarrh was so severe in his case that his life seemed threatened. As he expressed it himself, he had "one foot in the grave."

Of course he tried to get relief. Many practitioners were consulted and a catarrh specialist in St. Louis was tried. He got so weak and thoroughly run down that he declared he could not walk more than a hundred yards without resting.

Few people understand that catarrh is a constant drain on the system. The discharge of mucus which is going on in such cases is largely composed of blood serum, and is a great waste. Sooner or later it will weaken the strongest man.

According to reports received from Mr. Johnson, he was in a desperate condition, but he found relief from his trouble. We will let him say how he found it. His own words say:

"My friends told me to take Peruna, and I did so. I now feel that Peruna has saved my life. It is the best medicine on earth, and I would not be without it."

This seems almost too good to be true. No doubt there are some readers that will think so. The above statements, however, can be verified by writing Mr. Johnson.

Every home should be provided with the last edition of "The Ills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.
